First Among Equals

XP Spent on this is lost when the position changes hands.

Due Diligence ○

Spend 1 Influence to learn the number of Doors for a target.

Call in a Favour ●○

Spend 1 Influence instead of 1 Willpower to add +3 to a social contest.

Open Door Policy ●●○

Spend 1 Influence to remove a Door. May only be used once per instance of Social Manoeuvring.

Willing Coalition ●●●○

Spend 1 Influence to add Clan Status to Covenant Status or vice versa for a relevant social contest.

Executive Order ●●●●○

Spend 1 Influence to declare a ruling or pronouncement. The target chooses between compliance or a Condition of the Storyteller's choice.

Marks

These are your Marks of Duty. They are how you should conduct yourself in this Office.

When you fulfil a Mark, have an ST cross it off.

When 3 Marks are crossed off, the next time this sheet generates XP, you gain it personally instead.

Each session, you can raise or lower another's City Status by 1.

You can do this a number of times per session equal to your own Effective City Status.

You cannot raise or lower the same character more than once per session (but you can coordinate with your Socialite or other Court roles to stack changes).

You can strip a character's last dot of City Status, casting them out of the domain. You can grant the first dot of City Status to newcomers at no cost.

Your decisions should be grounded in the City Deeds on the back of this sheet. If you can't justify a Status change, others will be justified in dropping yours.

Sins Against the City

Severe	♦ Publicly defaming the city or its leadership. ♦ Killing mortals without justification. ♦ Intentionally breaking the Traditions. ♦ Blatantly raising or lowering someone's Status.
Moderate	♦ Skipping required gatherings. ♦ Causing disruption at Court. ♦ Blocking access to key resources. ♦ Defying leaders publicly.
Minor	♦ Unintentionally breaking the Traditions. ♦ Careless destruction that draws mortal attention. ♦ Aiding external threats through negligence.

Praiseworthy Deeds

Major	♦ Greatly expanding the city's power or reputation. ♦ Assuming a major leadership role. ♦ Eliminating a significant threat to the domain.
Moderate	♦ Advancing the objectives of city leadership through strategic planning or exceptional service. ♦ Modestly increasing the city's resources or reputation.
Minor	♦ Defending the city from external threats. ♦ Attending gatherings reliably. ♦ Consistently supporting the directives of city leadership.

Marks

These are your Marks of Duty. They are how you should conduct yourself in this Office.

When you fulfil a Mark, have an ST cross it off.

When 4 Marks are crossed off, the next time this sheet generates XP, you gain it personally instead.

Each session, you can raise or lower another character's City Status by 1, once.

You may permanently sacrifice one of your own City Status dots to make a second Status change in the same session.

You cannot affect your own City Status.

Your decisions should be grounded in the City Deeds on the back of this sheet. If you can't justify a Status change, others will be justified in dropping yours.

Marks

These are your Marks of Duty. They are how you should conduct yourself in this Office.

When you fulfil a Mark, have an ST cross it off.

When 5Marks are crossed off, the next time this sheet generates XP, you gain it personally instead.

Each session, you can raise or lower another character's City Status by 1.

You can do this a number of times per session equal to your own Effective City Status.

You cannot affect your own City Status, and you cannot hold another major court position simultaneously.

Your decisions should be grounded in the City Deeds on the back of this sheet. If you can't justify a Status change, others will be justified in dropping yours.
